

Don't let a Mechanical Breakdown Break your Wallet

Ever notice how your vehicle tends to need costly repairs after the factory warranty has expired? Next time you're financing a vehicle with us, consider purchasing Mechanical Breakdown Protection (MBP). This coverage will protect you long after your warranty has expired, and it may cost a lot less to purchase it through Kinecta Federal Credit Union than through a dealer.

MBP* includes major component coverage – engine, transmission, front and rear wheel drive, front suspension, steering, electrical and air conditioning, as well as rental car reimbursement and 24-hour roadside assistance.

Unlike other warranty programs, MBP allows for service at the repair facility of your choice in the United States and Canada. Also, coverage is transferable to a new owner, which adds to the resale value of the vehicle. There are various levels of coverage, giving you the opportunity to choose a plan that meets your specific needs. The cost of coverage can be included in your monthly vehicle payment or purchased separately.
